SHARP FAMILY

J.A. Sharp
1949

I. JOHN SHARP, Sr.; b. 1727; d. 18 Oct 1816; m. Ann Boyd, b. 1734; d. 15 Mar 1810. Captain James M. Sharp, a grandson, wrote in his recollections (1894) information about his grandparents that he obtained from his father, John Sharp, Jr. who settled in Sevier County about 1806 and died there in 1844. Captain Sharp said that John Sharp, Sr. was born in the "County of Meath or Myth, Ireland....He is of Scotch-Irish parents whose given names I never knew. After arriving at manhood he came to Pennsylvania, Lancaster County, and engaged in teaching.... a "Fencing School" for seven years in succession. At the close of each session of school, he would collect his pay," and buy Flax seed "which he carried over to Ireland each Fall." He then married Miss Ann Boyd of his native country and afterwards....came to the United States and settled in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania on a creek called Canegogig where he became the owner of three large and valuable farms." He lived here several years before the Revolution and had a large family by that time. He lived within "fifteen miles of the Battle of Brandywine," and volunteered with "two Irish servants" to fight in that Battle (11 Sep 1777). Later he sold his lands in Pennsylvania to a man by the name of "Coater," and was paid in Continental money. With his first installment he was able to buy a "good farm in Augusta County, Virginia, tenn miles northwest of Staunton and within two miles of Middlebrook near the North Mountains and on the North River." By the time his other payments were due the Continental money was worthless, and he was so "improvershed" that he was unable to do much to aid his large family. Both died in Virginia. The above dates were obtained from the THOMAS SHARP Bible, now (1949) in the possession of Reuben Sharp, Loudon, Tennessee. The dates were obtained from the following statement: "My grandfather in October 18, 1816 died- My grandnnete died March th 15 1810- age 76- father 89." It is believed that this was written by Alexander Sharp, father of Thomas Sharp, and referred to Alexander's grandfather and grandmother, John Sharp, Sr. and Ann Boyd Sharp. Also the date of John Sharp Sr. Will was July 2, 1816, and it was proven in court, 27 Jan 1817. See Chalkey, Augusta Abstracts V. III, page 227. (Written note: Will of James Sharp, Chester Co., Pa., made 1777, probated 1782. He named son, John Sharp and wife Ann. Believed to be father of John Sharp Sr.)

CHILDREN:

1. JAMES, b. ____; d. ____ . Captain Sharp in his recollections said that JAMES SHARP was a "physician and surgeon in the Revolution Army," and that he settled at Savannah, Georgia after the Revolution. He never married and when he died he was worth "considerable money." All of his estate went to his father because he died intestate, and his father willed it to his five daughters. He was dead at the time his father's will was made, 2 July 1816. See JOHN SHARP SR. WILL in Chalkey's Abstracts.
2. THOMAS, b. 26 Aug 1761; d. 24 Jan 1826; m. Mary (Jean) Willson, 20 Nov 1794. Birth and death dates in THOMAS SHARP BIBLE. She was the daughter of Matthew Willson. See Chalkey's Abstracts, V. II, page 313. Captain Sharp stated that Thomas "lived and died on the old Homestead in Virginia where he got to be wealthy." They had no children and he willed his large estate to his wife, brothers, sisters and his sister's children. Alexander Sharp, who named his first son for his uncle Thomas, got most of the land as well as some horses and slaves. See THOMAS SHARP WILL, Chalkey's Abstracts, V.II, page 251; also PARHAM PAPERS, McClung Room, Lawson-McGhee Library, Knoxville, Tennessee.

3. JOSEPH, b. ____; d. ____ 1828; m. Julia Ann Davidson. Joseph Sharp lived at the "Old Homestead" in Virginia. He had no children and left most of his estate to his brother, Robert, according to Captain Sharp in his recollections. Date of his death from MARGARET(SHARP) WEIR'S WILL, see PARHAM PAPERS.

4. ROBERT, b. ____; d. ____; m. Mary Porter; their children

- a. John, m. Sarah Price
- b. Mary Porter, Joshua Pate
- c. Anne Bowen, m. George Bright
- d. Jane Black m. Josiah Fleming
- e. William P. m. Julia Ann Southal
- f. Joseph D. m. ____ Howard
- g. James B. m. Maranda Horton
- h. Nancy, died young
- i. Elizabeth, m. James Ross

Captain Sharp stated in his recollections that ROBERT SHARP moved to Williamson County, Tennessee, and later lived and died near Murfreesboro, Tennessee. In 1925, Mrs. H.C. Jones, New Market, Alabama, corresponded with Mrs. Sterling Fort, Clarksville, Tennessee; the latter gave her the above information without dates and no dates are available at present. Mrs. Fort also stated the "Robert Sharp and Mary Porter were born in Augusta County, Virginia, were married there, and came to Tennessee between the years 1808-12, and settled in Williamson County." Mrs. Fort also quoted from a William H. Sharp, 2115 Grantland Ave., Nashville, Tennessee, the following: "My grandfather, ROBERT SHARP, left some point in Georgia 4 May 1794 and settled in Williamson County, Tennessee. I got this from an old almanac used as a diary, I suppose, by a Dr. James Boyd Sharp, and this is all the family history I know." The writer has learned that Mrs. Fort is dead and has been unable to contact a descendant who might have a more complete record of the family. However, Robert Sharp was still living in 1828, and attended the personal property sale of his brother Joseph's estate in Augusta County, Virginia. It seems that he inherited considerable property from Joseph, but the latter's will is not available.

5. JOHN, JR., b. 11 Nov 1760; d. 16 July 1844; m. (1) Isabella McChesney, 23 Aug 1796; she b. 1774; d. 8 Sep 1810; (both buried at Eusebia, Blount County, Tennessee). Their children were:

- a. MARY MCCHESENEY(Polly), b. 28 July 1798; d. ____; m. Robert Mc Croskey.
- b. ANNIE BOYD, b. 11 Dec 1800; d. 8 Dec 1802.
- c. NARCISSA, b. 8 Jan 1803; d. 25 July 1844; m. William Cowan Gillispie.
- d. MARTHA MONTGOMERY, b. 16 Mar 1806; d. ____ 1865; m. Dr. Samuel Pride.
- e. SALLY, b. 12 April 1808; d. 17 Aug 1809.

m. (2) Jean Johnston, 31 Mar 1812; she b. ____ 1783; d. 28 Mar 1822; their children were:

- f. ANN JOHNSTON, b. 6 June 1813; d. 10 June 1838; m. Caswell Lea.
- g. JOHN ZACHARIAH, b. 7 Jan 1815; d. 3 June 1815.
- h. JAMES MADISON, b. 8 July 1816; d. 30 Aug 1905. This was the Captain Sharp who wrote his recollections of the family, 1894.

m (3), Ann (McNelly) Crawford, 31 Mar 1825; she b. 10 April 1769; d. 3 Mar 1848; no children.

The dates for this family were obtained from the JOHN SHARP, JR. BIBLE (Mathew Carey, Philadelphia, 1802). The Bible was purchased by John Sharp Jr. in 1803, and is now in the possession of Miss Mary Sharp, his great grand daughter, Sevierville, Tennessee. Of John Sharp Jr., his father, Captain James Sharp stated that he came to Virginia with his family, and that he remembered his mother's great "anxiety and distress" for her husband during the battle of Brandywine. He remained in Virginia for only a few years and then decided to go to Savannah, Georgia to study medicine under his older brother James. He stopped in Blount County, Tennessee, to visit his sister, Margaret(Sharp) Weir and her husband, James Weir; while here the Cherokee Indians attacked the frontier settlements and murdered the Kirk family on Nine Mile Creek. Later a general Cherokee attack resulted in the burning of the Weir home, and he decided to return to his father's in Virginia since his route to Georgia passed through the Cherokee country. However, he only reached Greenville, Tennessee, and there he joined the army being raised by General John Sevier. He served in this force for two years, part of the time as a spy under Captain James Cunningham, and was present at the "celebrated defeat at the mouth of Citico Creek." He was also present at the battle of Lookout Mountain near the present Chattanooga when the Indians defeated the white forces under General Martin.

After peace was made he made a crop on his farm near Maryville, Tennessee, and with the money from his crop he bought horses from the Indians and drove them to Virginia. "On getting to his father's, none of the family knew him as he was dressed in the Indian costume of buckskin from head to foot and by this time had grown a beard." After this he engaged in the fur trade, delivering his furs in wagons to Philadelphia and drove large herds of cattle from "Virginia to Maryland and Pennsylvania. He also attended the Negro slaves in the Richmond section and when "he saw a chance to make money would buy them and bring them to Western Virginia and sell them." He engaged in such trading activities for eleven years, and Captain Sharp said that his father told him that "he had traveled 31 times from Tennessee to Staunton, Virginia, and seven from here to Philadelphia, all on horseback." After his first marriage in 1796, he settled on his farm near Maryville, and lived here until 1806 when he moved to his large farm near Trundle's X Roads in Sevier County, Tennessee, where he died in 1844.

h. JAMES MADISON SHARP, (see above for dates) m. 3 Dec 1846, Rebecca Cannon; she b. 9 Mar 1812; d. 28 Aug 1901; their children were:

 - d. James Boyd, b. ____ 1788; d. 4 Sep 1824; m. Lackey M. Peterson (Knox County, Tenn., 1811)
 - e. Nancy, b. 5 Dec 1791; d. 17 Sep 1816; m. James Clark, 14 Feb 1808; he born 30 Aug 1785; d. 13 Feb 1857.
 - f. Addison, b. (1792); d. 27 May 1832; m. Rebecca Hitch (Blount County, Tenn., 26 Dec 1821) (1792 written in and note: see (letter to Wm Hitch.)

Dates for this family were obtained from the Thomas Sharp Bible and the Clark Bible, now in the possession of John Clark, Maryville, Tennessee; also from markers in Clark Grove Cemetery near Maryville, Tennessee. ROBERT SHARP, husband of Letitia, presented quite a problem. Nothing is known about his ancestry. In 1927, the late Will Parham, Blount County genealogist, interviewed the late Robert Sharp, Rockford, Tennessee, and heard the old family tradition that ROBERT SHARP was "killed by Indians on Pistol Creek, near Maryville and is buried on the Will Brakebill farm, 7 miles northeast of here." Another version of the same story was that he was killed in 1792 "by an Indian striking him on the head with a tomahawk as he was crossing Pistol Creek with a hay fork on his shoulder, on his way to gather up hay." (See Parham Papers, McClung Room, Lawson-McGhee Library, Knoxville, Tennessee.) That Robert Sharp was actually killed by the Indians is proven by a contemporary account in the Knoxville Gazette of October 6, 1792. This account follows:

"On the 3rd instant Black's Block House, on the head of Crooked Creek (a branch of Little River) at which there was a serjeant's command of Captain Crawford's company, was attacked, by surprise about an hour and a half in the night, by a party of Indians commanded by a Cherokee of Will's Town, called the Tail, a brother of the Bench and Talohkfkke, consisting of three other Cherokees and five Creek.

James Paul was killed in the house, and George Morse and Robert Sharp at a fire on the outside, and John Shankland wounded, three horses were killed and seven taken off."

In August, 1793, the widow, Letitia, settled his estate in the Knox County Court of Pleas and Common Sessions as shown by the following entry in Estate Book, I, page 10: "Amt of the sales of the estate of Robert Sharp deceased was returned to court by Laticia Sharp administrator and admitted to be recorded. Amounting to two hundred and Sixty-four Dollars - Jan. 21st 1793. Laticia Sharp Adm." Letitia Sharp married John Clark, Revolutionary veteran, in 1801, but no children were born to this union; however, her daughter, Nancy Sharp, married James Clark son of John by a previous marriage in 1808, and Letitia seems to have spent her latter days in the home of James and Nancy. Robert Sharp, before settling in Blount County, owned land in Rockbridge County, Virginia, and may have lived there with his family. This is shown by powers of attorney given to Alexander Sharp by his brothers, Edward and James Boyd, in 1813 and 1814, for the purpose of collecting money due their father from one Thomas Maclin who bought the land from Robert Sharp but did not pay for it and received no deed. The land was located five miles from Lexington, and a man named "Elliot" lived on it in 1814. It is not known whether Alexander made any attempt to collect for this land or not. The court records of Rockbridge County might reveal a lawsuit which would tell more about Robert Sharp. (See Blount County Deed Abstracts, Parham Papers, McClung Room, Lawson-McGhee Library, Knoxville, Tennessee.)

The date of the son, Addison's birth, was not solved. The Clark Bible simply states: "Addison Sharp departed this life May 27, 1832, aged 36 yrs." This would place his birth in the year 1796, four years after Robert Sharp was killed by the Indians. Mr. Parham decided that writer of this made a mistake of ten years and that his age was 46 at the time of his death; therefore his birth would have been in the year 1786. However, the Blount County census record of 1830 places his birth between the years 1790-1800, so apparently Mr. Parham's theory was incorrect.
